

BASEMENT ELKS CLUB IS BOWER OF BEAUTY NOW

Entries For Flower Exhibit Exceed Expectations Of All

Dixon's first annual flower show, sponsored by Dixon lodge, No. 779, B. P. O. Elks, will be thrown open to the public this evening to continue over the week end and concluding Sunday evening. The fondest hopes of the committees in charge were far exceeded this morning in the multitude of entries that were pouring in to be shown in the many departments. Iris and peonies command the foremost positions in the general display.

The basement at the Elks club was filled to its capacity this afternoon when the judging of the exhibits took place and the prizes were awarded by the judges. This difficult task is left in the judgment of Robert Lundstrom, Sterling florist, Mrs. Willis Fry of the Lee County Home near Eliza and Mrs. Charles B. F. Miller of Mendota.

The banquet hall in the basement of the Elks club house with its neatly arranged display booths and banks of beautiful spring flowers with scores of entries, is proof of the interest shown by residents of Dixon and vicinity in the culture of beautiful flowers. While two varieties predominated the show there was a sufficient sprinkling of other varieties of spring blossoms to attract the attention of the flower lovers.

Fioral Co. Exhibit
Outstanding and featuring the entire show is the attractive display of the Dixon Fioral Company, which has been carefully planned and arranged by Louis Knick and his force of assistants. This entry occupies one end of the room and is original in its design. A complete rustic garden, surrounded by a split rail fence, with real grass lawn and three flower beds is the cause for a lingering visit.

A bed of geraniums, another of color-colored petunias, a third planted in daisies, fox-glove and Canterbury bells, the fourth a pincery attract immediate attention. In the center is a rock garden and a fish pond, the rock having been brought from the vicinity of Albany. Aquatic plants abound in the pool and rock garden. Beautiful climbing roses entwined the split rail fence.

Judging from the response with entries in the various departments, indications at noon pointed to an overflow of beautiful floral displays before the show opens this evening. The show will be open this evening until 10 o'clock, Saturday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock, a special showing for children of school are a reduced admission being charged. From 1 to 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and evening the show will be open to the public and all are invited to attend. Sunday afternoon, from 1 to 6 o'clock the public will be admitted to visit the beautiful display.

The various committees have worked hard to make the first show a success and their efforts have been fully rewarded. The public has responded to the request for flowers with the result that every space will be filled to its capacity. The public is now invited to lend its support to the show by its attendance and a very small admittance fee will be charged. The sponsors are not desirous of realizing a profit, but hope to be able to retire the expense of their efforts to provide Dixon and vicinity with its first successful flower show, which is to be made an annual affair in the future and judging from its magnitude, will necessarily be compelled to seek a much larger show space next season.

Darrow Will Aid McWilliams' Fight

Rockford, Ill., June 3—(AP)—Russell McWilliams, 17-year-old slayer sentenced to electrocution June 24, was taken to the state penitentiary at Joliet today by Deputy Sheriffs.

It was his second trip to the prison under a death sentence. The first was set aside when a number of prominent sociologists took a hand in the case and Clarence Darrow pleaded for the youth before the Supreme Court. He killed a street car conductor in a hold-up.

Three days ago, however, he again pleaded guilty and Judge Arthur Fisher re-imposed the death penalty. Darrow telephoned from Ft. Wayne, Ind., late yesterday that he would again appear in the case and William H. Holly of Chicago and B. Jay Knight of Rockford, his attorneys of record, announced that they will immediately ask for a writ of supersedeas to halt the execution long enough for them to perfect the appeal.

Sacrifice Of Love, Despair To Fire Goddess

Hilo, Hawaii, June 3—(AP)—Pele, dreaded fire goddess of Hawaiians, has claimed a human sacrifice of love and despair in her traditional home—the lava filled ferept of Halemaumau.

Clasping in his arms the body of the girl who had spurned his love, William Nuns, a young Portuguese, leaped yesterday into the deep pit of the world's largest active volcano. He apparently had slain the girl, Margaret Enos, before hurling himself into the lava-filled crater where some believe the ancient Hawaiians once offered human sacrifices to appease Pele's wrath.

Their bodies lay today side by side shrouded in sulphurous fumes 600 feet below the brink of the pit on the slopes of Kilauaea.

Two days ago the high school girl refused Nuns' offer of marriage. Early yesterday morning the rejected suitor kidnaped Miss Enos from the home of her sister, Mrs. Manuel Pardo, shooting the sister in the hand when she tried to stop him.

As authorities reconstructed the tragedy, the 20-year-old youth drove to the brink of Halemaumau presumably pleading with the girl to reconsider his proposal. Failing in his desire, yet wishing to spare his sweetheart the death he had planned for himself, Nuns supposedly shot and killed the 16-year-old girl before making his dramatic leap.

His blood-stained automobile was found on the brink of the fire pit. In it lay an automatic pistol and a note.

"Ten minutes to eight," the note read, "Margaret died instantly. She did not suffer, and now I must pay."

The possibility arose today that their bodies may lay together forever in the bottom of the fiery lava pit.

Radio Aerial Over Power Line Is Fatal

Wyoming, Ill., June 3—(AP)—William D. Graevs and his wife, Edna, 24, were killed and their eight-year-old daughter, Betty, died when their radio aerial fell from an electric wire yesterday.

Three pulmotor squads worked to save Mrs. Graevs but quit after five hours.

Graevs was trying to pull down a radio aerial which had fallen across the power line and the heavy current struck him down. Mrs. Graevs hastened to his aid and seized him about the waist, the little girl following.

For three hours their rescuers tried to resuscitate Graevs without success.

Another Pioneer Auto Maker Dead

Detroit, June 3—(AP)—Another name has been erased from the roll of living pioneers of the automobile industry.

Death came yesterday to Hugh Chalmers, one of the little group of men whose vision of mass production of automobiles for the general public turned a small group of "fad factories" into the giant motor industry of today.

Mr. Chalmers died in a private hospital at Beacon, N. Y., after being stricken ill suddenly while motoring in the east with Mrs. Chalmers. Pneumonia complicated by a heart ailment caused his death. He was 58 years old.

OFFICIALS ARE CONCERNED OVER MOLTON RELEASE

Hold the Action Without Habeas Corpus Was Without Basis

County Judge William L. Leech this morning was in receipt of a telegram from Dr. C. H. Anderson, Managing Officer of the East Moline state hospital, confirming the release of Nathaniel Moten from that institution to St. Louis. The message read as follows:

"Nathaniel Moten was delivered to city authorities in St. Louis, Mo., by orders of the hospital commission."

The action of the authorities at East Moline brought further criticism from Lee county authorities today when the above facts became known. Judge Leech, who was criticized by Dr. Anderson, managing officer of the institution for his condemnation of the actions of the East Moline office and the State Department of Public Welfare, made the following statement:

"Nathaniel Moten was a ward of the Lee County Court, from which he was committed. He like wise was under indictment on the Circuit Court of this county on a charge of murder and was held without bond until the indictment was returned. The St. Louis officials, whoever they may be, had no right under the law to remove Nathaniel Moten out of the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts as they have done. Extradition would have been necessary to bring about his return to St. Louis, and he was released by Dr. Anderson from the institution to which he was legally committed without notice being given Lee county authorities, and then removed from the jurisdiction of the state courts."

Sustains Leech
State's Attorney Mark C. Keller sustained the opinion of Judge Leech and stated:

"Habeas corpus proceedings of extradition accompanied by a Governor's warrant would be the only legal course to bring about Moten's discharge from the East Moline state hospital. If this has not been done, he has been illegally taken out of the state and the jurisdiction of the Illinois courts as Judge Leech has stated."

"Personally, I cannot conceive of any legal process that would allow Moten's removal from the state in the manner that has been reported. He was held without bond on a charge of murder until indicted in the Circuit Court when bond was fixed and the murder indictment still holds. He was legally committed to the East Moline state hospital after a hearing before a commission of physicians in the County Court and was delivered to that institution by Sheriff Richardson. Apparently there was no fault or error in the commitment papers or Lee county officials would have been notified at once. The only avenue for his release would then be through habeas corpus action in which case the State's Attorney of Rock Island county would have appeared in behalf of the institution."

In a long distance telephone message at noon today was dictated at the office of State's Attorney Ben S. Bell at Rock Island that no habeas corpus action was instituted in securing Moten's release to St. Louis, Mo., authorities.

FREED ON REQUEST

East Moline, Ill., June 3—(AP)—Dr. C. H. Anderson of the East Moline State Hospital today denied that Nathaniel Moten, mentally deficient Negro of St. Louis, had been discharged from the hospital and turned loose on the public as charged by County Judge William Leech, of Dixon.

When informed of the Judge's charge, Dr. Anderson said that Moten was released at the request of Curtis H. Lohr, Hospital Commissioner with offices in St. Louis, Mo.

We received a letter from Mr. Lohr instructing us to deliver Moten to the receiving room of the City Hospital in St. Louis. Dr. Anderson said, "Mr. Lohr also requested a history of the patient. According to his instructions the patient was delivered to the receiving room of the City Hospital in St. Louis, May 26." Dr. Anderson said.

Asked if the patient's condition had improved while at East Moline, Dr. Anderson said "not noticeably."

"We do not release patients on the public and I do not feel that our Welfare Department should be criticized by Judge Leech or anyone else. We acted on instructions from Mr. Lohr, and so far as I know this patient is still in the St. Louis hospital and not running loose," Dr. Anderson declared.

SUDDEN FLOOD HIT OKLAHOMA CITY THIS MORN

Four Known Killed As Waters Sweep Over The City

Oklahoma City, June 3—(AP)—Three women and a child were drowned and there were unverified reports of other deaths as a sudden flood swept Oklahoma City early today, trapping scores of sleeping families.

Sent roaring out of their banks by a half foot of rain, the waters of the Canadian river and Lightning creek surged over a wide area in the southern part of the city.

Water poured through the business district, flooding basements, and routed families living in camps for the destitute.

The body of a 14-year-old girl was taken from Lightning creek at Southeast 23rd Street. J. M. Meads, former Deputy Sheriff, reported that the body of a woman about 45 years old was taken from a tree, that of another woman about 40, was recovered in a street.

The body of a 5-year-old boy was recovered from 5 feet of water on Southeast 23rd street.

A man on horseback who attempted to cross deep water near the Taylor School for Boys, where 65 hungry youths were marooned upstairs, was reported drowned.

John L. Kennedy told police his wife had drowned and that he had saved his infant child.

The body of another woman was reported on a trestle, which could not be reached because of high water.

Four of a family of five were reported missing the father, marooned in a tree, shouting he did not know what had become of the others.

At one time water stood two feet deep at Main and Broadway, in the heart of the business district.

National Guard troops were called out for police and rescue work.

And for one of the lowest, $750, went a ticket to the Lincoln inaugural ball sent with an invitation to Mrs. Michael Newbold. Only a few tickets of the ball are known to have survived.

Conferees Acted In Record Time: Bill Is Reported Today

BULLETIN.
New York, June 3—(AP)—J. P. Morgan & Company today announced that a gigantic security investing corporation, to which $100,000,000 has already been subscribed, was in the process of formation.

The corporation proposes to make its initial purchases in the bond market. Its policy in acquiring investments must be based in final action by Congress in effectively balancing the budget and thus manifesting its determination to maintain intact the government's credit, it was explained.

Washington, June 3—(AP)—A proposal to legalize and tax 2.75 per cent beer was advanced in the Senate today by Senator Tydings (D. Md.), as an amendment to the economy bill.

Tydings proposed it as a substitute for an amendment by Senator Johnson (R. Calif.) to exempt salaries of $2,500 from the 10 per cent government pay cut recommended by the Economy committee. The beer amendment thus became the pending business and was in line for consideration next.

The Maryland Senator asserted his plan would raise twice the $238,000,000 that would be saved by the economy bill and make it unnecessary.

Washington, June 3—(AP)—The budget-balancing tax-economy legislation kept Congress on edge today with the House hearing that the compromise revenue bill will raise $1,119,000,000 and the Senate striving to agree on the $250,000,000 economies needed.

How conferees of the two branches wrestled for hours to reconcile differences in the two tax bills, and the decisions reached, were related by Acting Chairman Crisp of the House Ways and Means committee.

The plan is to get the House to act tomorrow, then the Senate and

"Pork Barrell Bill" Is Reported To House—

Washington, June 3—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee today favorably reported the $2,300,000,000 Garner relief program.

Immediately thereafter, the Democratic leadership called the party members to caucus at 4 P. M. to consider what action to take on the measure.

Speaker Garner said he planned to bring the measure up for consideration in the House Tuesday, provided the Democratic caucus approves.

Garner said the fact that the Senate revenue bill included a one-cent a gallon tax on gasoline would not, in his opinion have any effect on the one-quarter of a cent a gallon his relief measure proposes.

After Acting Chairman Crisp of the House Ways and Means committee presented the conference report to the House, he said differences in the two bills had been eliminated quicker than in "any bill of similar magnitude in the history of the country." He urged haste to get on the statute books a bill that will balance the budget, promising "this bill will do that."

Later Crisp announced to newspapermen the various final versions of the taxes.

The House conferees accepted the Senate income tax rates; the 2 cent tax on bank checks, the tax to be collected by banks; the Senate gasoline tax of one cent a gallon; the oil import tax of one half cent per gallon, exempting asphalt used in public roads construction; and the Senate tariffs on lumber and copper.

Compromises Reached

A compromise on the corporation tax was reached. The flat rate on corporations was placed at 13 1/2 per cent, with a tax of 14 1/2 per cent levied on consolidated and affiliated corporation returns.

The House conferees agreed to the Senate's levy of 3 per cent on electrical energy with an amendment making it apply to domestic (Continued on Page 2)

BULLETIN.
Chicago, June 3—(AP)—One hundred business leaders today telegraphed Illinois Congressmen to support legislation enabling the Federal Reconstruction Corporation to lend funds to the states for unemployment relief. They then dug into their pockets for $4,065,000 to purchase tax anticipation warrants which assured that food distributing centers would not close tomorrow night.

PRESIDENT HOOVER IS ASKED TO USE INFLUENCE TO SECURE GOV'T, AID FOR CHICAGO NEEDY

Chicago, June 3—(AP)—An urgent appeal has been made to President Hoover by a group of bankers and civic leaders requesting him to use his influence toward obtaining Federal aid for Chicago's unemployed lest a half million starve.

The appeal was made by telephone yesterday and the President was informed the situation was critical in view of the inability of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission on its relief work after Saturday due to lack of funds.

An extraordinary session of the state Assembly authorized sale of state tax anticipation warrants up to $18,500,000 for the work but the commission has not been able to dispose of $6,000,000 and the cash realized from the sale of the bulk of the warrants nearly has been exhausted.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, secretary of the commission, declared yesterday the welfare work could be continued until August 1 should the remaining warrants be sold but Mayor Cermak observed that even with such a fortuitous turn, Federal aid will become imperative after that date.

Take out the onions and herbs and put in a breakfast cupful of well washed rice and boil until the rice is tender; dish the fowl, add a tea-cupful of gravy or stock to the liquor in which it was boiled; pour the gravy and rice around the fowl, and serve.

Vanilla Souffle, Waldorf

Beat together the yolks of three eggs and one tea-cupful each of flour and sugar. When well incorporated stir in gradually one pint of fresh milk, and strain it thru a fine hair-sieve into a saucepan. Put about one ounce of butter, a piece of stick of vanilla, and a little salt in with the other ingredients, and stir them over a very slow fire until thick; then move it to the side and continue stirring for a few minutes longer.

Remove the vanilla from the mixture, allow it to cool a little, the mix with it the beaten yolks of five eggs, and a small lump of butter, and last of all the well-whisked whites of half a dozen eggs. Make some small paper cases in the shape of a long square, butter them and nearly fill them with the mixture, which should be sufficient in quantity to fill eight cases. Place the souffles in a slow oven, and bake them for fifteen minutes. Serve the moment they are done.

WHY GANGSTERS FEEL SECURE.

A Chicago gangster named "Three-Fingered Jack" White was set free the other day when the courts finally dismissed a seven-year-old charge of murdering a policeman; and in that story of unconscionable legal delays there is a pretty fair explanation of gangland's notorious feeling of immunity.

The killing took place in 1925. In 1927 White was convicted and sentenced to life in prison. Then the verdict was reversed by a higher court, and in 1931 he was retried, convicted and sentenced to 14 years. Now the case has been reversed again, and this time the charge has been dropped.

White may be perfectly innocent; but when you reflect that we have a legal system which took seven years to settle the matter, you can see how it is that criminals have lost most of their fear of the courts.

It does seem strange that there are those who think they can ride over the law and do as they please, when they know that honest government is the best policy.—James M. Ogden, attorney general for Indiana.

SHANGHAI AND SERAJEVO.

There is something rather ominous about the recent bombing in Shanghai, at which several of Japan's high civil and military officials were wounded. It compels one to recall another murder, committed a good many years ago—at Serajevo in 1914, to be explicit.

In each case the outrage was the work of a fanatic, directed against a power which seemed—to the fanatic, at least—to be overbearing and ruthless. In 1914 it proved to be just the event that was needed to touch off a powder magazine.

What will happen in the Far East? Will this Shanghai bombing be followed, probably, by a Japanese ultimatum similar to that issued by Austria-Hungary in 1914? For the sake of world peace, one hopes not. But it is impossible to forget the similarity between the two crimes.

"UNCLE SAM" INDIANS.

Explorers who return from the darker regions of the earth often bring back very diverting stories. But it is a long time since anyone has popped up with quite as pleasant a yarn as that told by Dr. Thomas W. F. Gann, British archaeologist, who recently landed in New York after exploring the jungles of Guatemala.

Dr. Gann, it seems, discovered in the jungles a tribe that he christened the "Uncle Sam Indians."

These Indians, he says, wore costumes very like that traditional for Uncle Sam. They had red and white striped trousers and they wore dark blue coats with long tails; and Dr. Gann, who knows his cartoons, was immediately struck by their resemblance to the legendary figure.

What all of this may mean is perhaps obscure; but it does come as a welcome, brightly diverting little bit of news.

A BROKER'S VIEWPOINT.

A New York stock broker contributed to an eastern newspaper the other day an odd and illuminating article protesting against the Senate committee's current inquiry into speculation on the Stock Exchange. Declaring the investigation is a "damaging force serving to undermine confidence in the financial stability of this country," he expressed the pious hope that "this futile investigation will die a natural death within a brief time."

It is hardly reasonable, of course, to expect one who lives by and for the stock market to applaud this investigation; but other men are apt to question his statement that the investigation is doing the country much harm.

The damage was done by the speculation itself. The more light we can get now on the way that speculation was conducted and the men who were chiefly involved in it, the better shall we be able to shape our course the next time a bull market gets us by the ears.

The Prince of Wales was just as I expected to find him, charming and delightful. We talked ship, discussing airplanes and flying in general.—Amelia Earhart Putnam, transatlantic flyer.

These United States today are a transmogrified lunatic asylum, as I have said.—Shaw Desmond, English writer.

It is useless to preach that men and women ought to return to the moral behavior of a simpler age, for they will not do it.—Bertrand Russell.

Worry is the sport of men who have nothing to do.—Andrew Mellon, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain.

In order that railroad transportation may be placed on the most efficient and economical basis, the consolidation of railroads should be advanced with all possible speed.—Resolution adopted by U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

As long as Europe persists in closing its ears to the voice of history, no progress at all can be achieved by its statesmen.—Ex King Alfonso of Spain.

The Tinmites eyed the rocket man. Then up to him we Duncy ran. "Say, are you fooling?" he exclaimed. "Will that big rocket fly?" "Gee, if it will, I'd like a ride inside of it. Has it been tried?" It's hard to realize that it will sail in the sky.

The old man laughed and then replied, "Of course this rocket has been tried. Why, I would ride in it myself, but I'm too big for it." "When I go on a trip for fun, I want to be real comfy, son. You lads are very little. There is room for all to sit."

Then Scouty said, "Where would we go? That's one thing that we ought to know. The rocket might go up all right, but how would it come down?"

"You see it, really would be rash for us to go if we would crash. Perhaps, though, it might take us to some interesting town." "Ah! Now you're talking common sense. I really went to much expense to build this rocket," said the man. "It's safe as it can be." "Come on, climb in and try your luck. I promise that you won't get stuck. When you are way up in the air, think of the sights you'll see."

Big birds will circle 'round you all, but they won't hurt you. Not at all! The rocket has strong windows and it's safe inside.

"Now, there! I've told you all I know. Who's really game enough to go?" "I am!" exclaimed brave Windy. "I am ready for a ride."

"And so are we," the others said. The man replied, "I'll go ahead and get the rocket ready."

Then he placed it on a stump. "You're bound for places you've never been," the old man shouted. "Climb right in. And please remember, when you whiz away, don't try to jump."

(The Tinmites whiz up into the air in the next story.)

ASHTON NEWS

By E. TILTON

ASHTON—A bright sunny day brought out a large attendance at Ashton's Memorial Day service 2:00 o'clock on Monday. Many from other communities were here for the day to honor those near and dear, asleep in local cemeteries. Preceding the address the Ashton band played several numbers. Upon the platform were Ashton's two Civil War veterans, Gilbert Reed and Lewis Wood and Veterans of other wars, Spanish American and World War.

The Boys Glee Club of the Ashton high school sang appropriate numbers and the address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. F. W. Henke, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church with the invocation given by the Rev. Johnson. The Ashton roll of honor was read by Clarence Paddock of the Ashton American Legion and the benediction pronounced by Rev. A. Walter, pastor of the Reynolds Evangelical church.

Earl Pierce of the Ashton American Legion as Marshal of the day the lines filled out and marched to the cemetery where the Rev. Park O. Bailey offered a prayer at the Soldiers and Sailors monument, so beautifully adorned by the beautiful flowers and carefully clipped lawn of Ashton's God's Acre.

Flowers were strewn upon the graves of all sleeping heroes resting in Ashton cemetery, a three volley salute was given by the firing squad and taps closed the rites honoring the community's honored dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephan of Kenosha were guests at the home of Mrs. Stephan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Weishaar over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moore of Morrison were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krug.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cone and small daughter of DeKalb were guests at the Gottfried Johnson home on Sunday. Other guests at the Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Paddock.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gibson were hosts on Memorial Day to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gibson of Madison and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Arnold and son Gerald.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Musselman spent Sunday with their parents at Flagg Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Cross were guests at the home of Charles Cross on Sunday.

The day long anticipated by every high school student came to the 1932 class of Ashton high school on Friday evening. Commencement day and diplomas came and are now cherished memories of the past and seventeen young folks have completed one important mile stone of their lives.

A most impressive address was given by the Rev. O'May of Chicago, father of Herman O'May instructor in languages and music at the Ashton high school. Rev. O'May is not a complete stranger to many of the community who were pleased indeed to hear him address the graduating class of 1932. Diplomas were given to the members of the class by Supt. J. A. Torrens who has guided the steps of these young folks in school the entire four years. Those of the class are Robert Dean, Raymond Kersten, Edith Farver, Rogene Krug, Florence Schaefer, Henry Arends, June Arends, Russell Stephens, Eugene Sward, Ruby Shippey, Cecilia Braddy, Janet Ogle, Rena Boyer, Velma Smith, Adeline Lahnman, and Frances Sward. When the school bell rings next fall they will be missed as they have taken active parts in every department of the school's musical, journalistic, athletic and social activities, many having brought honors to their school. Music was supplied by the high school glee club and orchestra during the evening and with good wishes of hosts of friends and school mates the class of 1932 took leave of their high school days.

Wenatchee, Wash. — Unusual picnics are being enjoyed in isolated mountain beauty spots through the medium of airplanes.

Several Wenatchees are chartering planes and flying to picnic grounds on one of the mountains south of here. There are several cleared spaces for landing on the mountain, on which there are no auto roads.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON WAITE

Shawnee, Okla.

I have noticed in my recent journeys to various cities that in the cities proper men and women walk with a quick gait. For the most part they are anxious-eyed and seem to be in a big hurry to get some place, while in the smaller places they do not hurry, but walk with an air of opulent leisure.

I also noticed that the larger cities seem to possess sounds of their own, and this fact is very interesting. In imagination, we think, most people are able to recall certain places, not for their ugliness or their beauty, but for certain other associations which we can only describe as atmosphere; sounds, for instance, and smells. Some of them have a variety of smells.

It reminds me that a lot of cities, as well as public places, need a little cleaning up. In fact, some of them need a long delayed cleaning.

Daily Health Talk

"Are you developing a grave yard in your mouth? Many people already have them. And neglect was likely the cause. Of course, very few individuals would deliberately 'kill' teeth, but the slaughter is no less a fact even though a willful premeditation on the subject's part be altogether absent. Strictly speaking, it is the exceptional individual who knowingly permits his teeth to 'go to the dogs.' The point is that the helpless and infected tooth is very likely to get into that condition before the victim is seriously aware of it. It must be remembered that many of nature's destructive processes are not associated with pain or discomfort," said Dr. L. W. Neber, Superintendent of the State Health Department's dental section, today.

"The living soft tissue of a tooth is known as pulp. It consists of the nerve and blood vessels as well as of the soft tissue lining the inside surfaces of the tooth. These latter act as a conductor for the tiny blood vessels and nerves. This is nature's miraculous method of giving life to teeth.

"When for any reason, such as irritation, exposure or decay this pulp becomes injured, it expands and literally chokes itself to death. The nourishing blood supply is thus cut off and the process of decomposition at once begins.

"Dead teeth are not pretty, as they become discolored. But the significant fact is that even though the decaying tissue is removed and the cavity sterilized and filled, it is not always possible to preserve the teeth. The chances of abscess formation at the root and are great. And abscesses sooner or later mean trouble.

"While dead teeth in themselves are bad enough, their power to inflict harm to the general health is well demonstrated by the many thousands of illnesses and deaths for which they have been directly to blame.

"Therefore, if you don't have any dead teeth, do everything in your power to stay from them. If percentage you are already harboring them, they should be carefully checked at least twice a year by the dentist. It does not pay to temporize with conditions that develop helpless teeth, or with dead teeth themselves.

DUODENAL ULCERS—II

The duodenal ulcer tends to become chronic with a fairly regular cycle of activity, when the patient suffers pains and the typical symptoms associated with his condition, followed by periods during which the patient feels well.

The duodenal ulcer may heal spontaneously. However, medicine and nature make a better combination against the duodenal ulcer than nature alone.

The outstanding symptom is pain, characteristically described as gnawing.

It is localized in what the patient describes as the pit of the stomach, though it may radiate to the right side and pass through to the lower level of the right shoulder blade.

Usually the pain disappears upon the taking of food, a warm drink or medicine, only to re-appear within an hour or two thereafter. The pain is aggravated by fasting, worry, fatigue, cold and sometimes by smoking.

Associated with this pain may be a variety of other symptoms, such as those of fullness, rumbling of the stomach and the intestines, flatulence, and gas on the stomach.

Characteristically, the patient is irritable and is incapable of any marked degree of concentration.

As is usually true of many other medical conditions, the earlier duodenal ulcer is diagnosed and the sooner appropriate treatment is instituted, the better the chances for a complete cure.

In adjusting his dietary and work habits the patient may succeed in overcoming his condition early and thus escape the need of surgical treatment and prolonged hospitalization.

In discussing the duodenal ulcer, Dr. Ryle of Guy's hospital, London aptly says: "In a restless and fretful age, the most important contribution which we can make is to furnish sensible instructions to the community with regard to the evils of missed and bolted meals, of excessive smoking and of the prevalent habit of attempting to combine the process of digestion with anxiety and affairs."

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

Probably there is a lurking desire to be a pirate hidden in every man, somewhere.

Maybe it's because we were all brought up on "Treasure Island," and maybe it is because we are just naturally given to admiration of sinful men; whatever the reason, a good tale of piracy is something very few of us can resist.

All of this is just by way of leading up to the fact that Rafael Sabatini's new novel, "The Black Swan," is a good, straightaway story of piracy on the Spanish Main. Need I say more?

The story opens with a girl named Priscilla traveling back to England from the West Indies on a merchant ship, accompanied by one Major Sands, an ardent but somewhat stupid lover. As soon as the swarthy, handsome Monsieur de Bernis boards the vessel, you know this Major Sands isn't going to get anywhere at all; for de Bernis used to be a buccaneer, and has lately been in the service of Sir Henry Morgan, and what infantry officer would have a chance against anything like that?

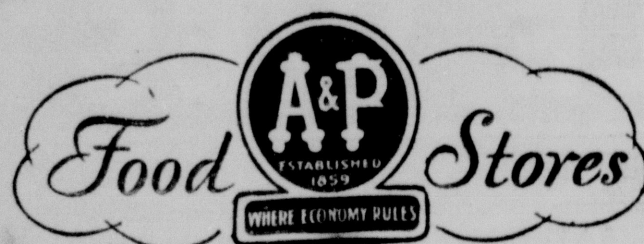

And presently their ship is captured by the infamous Tom Leach as foul a pirate as ever scuttled a ship; and de Bernis saves himself and Major Sands from death, and Priscilla from an infinitely worse fate, by means of a wily stratagem, and a little later he runs Private Leach through with his sword and the king's ships come and rescue them, and everybody but Major Sands, who is jealous, lives happily ever after.

Of course, you can see all of this coming. But who cares? Piracy is piracy and Sabatini is Sabatini, and I have a weakness for both.

TEA IN THE AIR

WHY HILLS BROS COFFEE IS THE MOST ECONOMICAL COFFEE TO BUY

If you are sincerely interested in quality and economy, you will read these facts about the largest selling brand of coffee between the Pacific Coast and Chicago.

Millions, who are as careful about their household budgets as they are about the goodness of the coffee they buy, have made the discovery that Hills Bros. Coffee is the most economical.

That is one reason why more people, from Chicago to the Pacific, buy more Hills Bros. Coffee than any other brand.

They know that the quality of coffee determines the flavor. They know that the strength of coffee determines the number of good cups you can make. Flavor without strength is expensive. Strength without flavor is unsatisfying.

Only the highest quality selected coffees are used at the Hills Bros. plant. These coffees plus perfect roasting, grinding and packing, give Hills Bros. Coffee its full-bodied strength and rich, delicious flavor.

Why Hills Bros. Coffee goes further

This abundance of flavor is the reason Hills Bros. Coffee goes further. It is why Hills Bros. offers the greatest value. Indeed, Hills Bros. Coffee gives you such unusual goodness that your first cup is a notable and remembered occasion.

The U. S. Customs District's records of coffee imports offer substantial proof of the unusual quality found in Hills Bros. Coffee. These records show that the per pound value of coffee received in the San Francisco Customs District in 1931 was 30 per cent higher than New York's importations and 50 per cent higher than New Orleans'. Hills Bros.' plant is located in San Francisco. The enormous quantities of high-grade coffee used by Hills Bros. are responsible for the quality showing of this port in the United States records.

The high quality and flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee account for its popularity throughout major area of United States

Back in the eighties, A. H. and R. W. Hills paved the way for their product to become the most popular coffee from the Pacific Coast to Chicago. They concluded that a worth-while coffee business could be built only by selling the finest quality of coffee. For fifty-four years, the attention of every individual in the Hills Bros. organization has been centered on the production of quality.

Quality in coffee cannot be seen with the eye nor measured in the laboratory. It can be determined only by tasting and smelling—how it tastes in the cup. Seven men devote their entire time to the blending of Hills Bros. Coffee. None of these men has less than nine years of experience; one has been blending and testing coffee for fifty-four years. The buying of good green coffees is not the whole story. These testers know how to take the finest of green coffees from every country of the world that grows good coffee and blend them into one harmonious whole, and secure the same result year in, year out.

Hills Bros. took the guess out of roasting their coffee

It is interesting that almost every step in the coffee business seems of equal importance. First, to market good coffee, you must buy high-grade green coffee. And even though the green coffees are good, they must be properly blended. Yet, the finest blend cannot be developed to full flavor by poor roasting.

The common method of roasting coffee is in batches of several hundred pounds, but Hills Bros. roast in small quantities by their exclusive process—"Controlled Roasting". It is precise. Every berry receives the same even roast—just the roast required to develop the delightful goodness that nature makes possible. The process never varies, neither does the flavor. People who appreciate the same fine flavor in their coffee, meal after meal, continually praise this feature of Hills Bros. Coffee.

Quality insured and safeguarded by grinding and packing

Through scientific tests, Hills Bros. have determined the degree of granulation that will give the most satisfactory results in making coffee. The grinding is done by machines which, like Controlled Roasting, embody certain exclusive principles developed by Hills Bros. If you make coffee in a Drip Pot, Percolator, Urn, or even in a saucepan, the granulation of Hills Bros. Coffee will give perfect results.

In July, 1900, Hills Bros. originated the vacuum process of packing coffee. The vacuum process is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. And remember, there is no magic about a vacuum can, it will not make poor coffee good but it will keep good coffee fresh.

A month's trial will be a revelation in value received

Drink Hills Bros. Coffee! Every steaming, fragrant cup will be a thrill to your taste. You will enjoy a flavor and satisfaction such as you never dreamed of. Compared with Hills Bros.' flavor and quality, any other coffee would cost you more.

Here is the coffee of coffees. The choicest berries of the world's crop, expertly blended, perfectly roasted, ground to the correct degree and packed in vacuum to keep fresh always. Order Hills Bros. today. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can. Hills Bros., San Francisco, California.

Tax Problems In This State

By M. H. HUNTER
University of Illinois

35. Expenditures for Public Works.

Of the total expenditures of the State Government of Illinois, 37 per cent is spent annually for the construction and maintenance of highways and waterways. This was determined by J. A. Cerny of the Bureau of Business Research, University of Illinois, in a study of the state expenditures for the period 1921-1930. Formerly public welfare and education were the major factors, but today highways are considered to be the most important duty of the state government.

Starting with expenditures of $13,646,768 in 1921, the amount was increased so that by 1925, $39,245,715 was spent by the State in the building and maintaining of highways. This no doubt was the result of the campaign staged in 1923 and 1924 to bring Illinois out of the mud. With the slowing down of business activity in 1926, the expenditures were reduced, but with the boom years of 1928 and 1929 the building program was rapidly increased. In the year 1929, alone, $53,605,688, or 51 per cent of the total expenditures for that year, was for the construction of new hard surfaced roads.

With this extensive program, the State of Illinois had by the end of the year 1930, 7,803 miles of hard surfaced roads in its state highway system, built at a cost of $26,000 to $30,000 per mile. Only 3 other states had more miles of concrete roads built by the state. Of the total expenditures of the Departments of Public Works and Buildings and of Purchases and Construction in the last ten years, 87 per cent went directly into the construction of the roads, 5 per cent for the maintenance of the highways, 4 per cent for the building of the Illinois Canal System, 1 per cent for the maintenance of same, 1.5 per cent for the purchase and care of memorials and parks, and 1.5 per cent for office expenses. In this ten year period, the greatest change was evidenced in the expenditures for maintenance of highways. In 1921, $300,000 was spent for this item, while in 1930, the amount was $4,000,000. The normal thing to expect in the future is that this cost will gradually assume a greater and greater importance in the affairs of the Department of Public Works. The future problem is not to build more miles of roads, but to eliminate railroad crossings, and sharp curves and to maintain the wearing surfaces in good condition.

REAL BAD MAN—A bold bandit with no respect for policemen made Patrolman H. W. Green feel rather out of place recently. The bandit approached Green when the latter was parked in his car. He shoved a gun into the policeman's side, took the latter's gun away from him, and made him drive to the outskirts of the town. Then he helped himself to the officer's car.

SMART DOGGIE—Houston, Texas—One dog in this city has been run over by a hundred automobiles, but hasn't been hurt once. City Marketmaster J. D. Reed sits on his front porch and watches the dog go through his tricks. Trapped by a speeding auto, he gets out of the path of the machine's wheels and lies flat and nonchalantly permits the machine to pass over him," he explains.

FIRE? NO. RADIO—Battle Creek, Mich.—A. J. Arnold went to bed and slept very peacefully until he heard a roaring. Thinking his house was on fire, Arnold dashed to the phone and called the fire department.

When firemen hurried to the scene they failed to find a fire, but they did find—Arnold had left his radio going all night.

TWO ROOKIES OF BRAVES LEADING MAJOR LEAGUES

Brown and Betts Look Like World Beaters: Each Win Five

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

A club that can pick up one winning rookie in this day of keen competition is doing pretty well, but here Manager Bill McKechnie has found a pair who look like world beaters. Each has contributed five victories to the Braves' pennant fight, neither has met defeat, and they are tied for the pitching leadership of the National League.

What makes their work even more impressive is the fact that they have burst on the scene with little or no fanfare. Pre-season dope scarcely mentioned either Brown, the husky kid from Birmingham, or Betts, who years before had been a failure previously with the Phillies.

Poison To Dodgers
Brown has been particularly poisonous to Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers four times. Twice he has limited Max Carey's pupils to four hits and again to five. His second four-hitter was achieved yesterday, when he clipped the Dodgers, 5 to 1, in the second game of a double-header after Brooklyn had beaten socks Seibold, 6 to 1, in the first.

Hack Wilson's seventh home run after two were out in the ninth deprived him of a shutout.

The Braves, however, lost ground to the leading Chicago Cubs, who beat Pittsburgh, 9 to 5. The only other game scheduled, the Phillies

Gomez Wins Again
Lefty Gomez rang up his ninth victory against an defeat as the Yankees trimmed the Athletics, 5 to 1. The Castilian beat the A's for the fourth straight time, kept eight hits widely spaced and struck out 10 batters.

Washington strengthened its hold on second place in the American with a double win over the floundering Boston Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 8 to 1. Monte Weaver won his eighth victory in the opener and Lefty Bob Burke pitched some nice ball in the nightcap.

The St. Louis Browns bunched two doubles and three singles with a base on balls in the third inning to score four runs off Al Thomas and beat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2. Cleveland's scheduled double-header at Detroit was rained out.

Invincibles Beat Lee Center Grays

Lee Center was favored with a large crowd of spectators from several of the neighboring towns who witnessed a hard fought game on the Lee Center diamond on Memorial Day, between the Lee Center Grays and the Lee Center Invincibles. The Invincibles defeated the Grays by a score of 11 to 6. This is the second time this season. Several weeks ago the Grays defeated the Invincibles 3 to 2 in a well-played game. The Grays are now playing in the West League and the Invincibles are playing local teams. The Invincibles are now well organized and will give stiff competition to any opposing team. Later in the season the two teams will collide again to play off the tie which will be another big day for Lee Center and ball fans from the surrounding vicinity.

Shoemakers Play Sycamore Sunday

The William B. Johnson Shoe Company baseball team will be on their home diamond Sunday afternoon when they meet the Sycamore Legion team in the second pairing of the season. In the first game away from home the Sycamore crew won a decisive victory over the shoemakers trial squad and the local will be out for revenge Sunday afternoon when the two teams meet on the Independent field at 2:30 in the afternoon.

BOARDMAN AND POLANDO

RUMOR HAS BOARDMAN PLANNING A MYSTERY RACING PLANE.

POLANDO IS LOOKING FOR A JOB.

By DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

The citizens of Lynn, Mass., had just given him a grand reception. He had been lauded by speakers, patted on the back by friends and handed $2,000 as a reward for his achievement. Then it was all over, all over, including the well-known shouting.

Said John Polando to himself, "Now what?"

Having been a member of the flying team of Boardman and Polando, which set a long distance flight record—New York to Istanbul—he wasn't worrying much. He would, no doubt, find a good position.

What Now?

Perhaps he will sometime. He should. But last reports had John Polando, air hero, spending time at home or at airports near and around Boston, looking for a job. The question "now what?" has not been answered satisfactorily.

Russell N. Boardman, veteran flyer who has some money, is now looking ahead and planning. He has, now become a "man of mystery." There will be a mystery flight from the Pacific coast this summer, you hear, over a new route, to an unannounced destination.

And this: from his home in Boston comes the report that he is supervising the secret construction of a racing plane to be entered in the Thompson Trophy air races this fall. It will be of the type in which Lowell Bayles rocketed to the American speed record, only to be killed in a crash later. You can be sure that bold

"That must be Ireland," said Polando, laughing. It was.

One Pint of Gas

But the fog was with them again. They escaped it by flying 14,500 feet, in intense cold—two goose-pimples, shivering men, tired but undaunted. Then there was Paris. They circled and went on, straight into the Alps.

Visibility was poor. The mountains came out of the mist, at them. They zig-zagged the way through, then soared along the Danube, swooped in and around Balkan peaks, zoomed over the Black Sea and finally reached Istanbul, 5000.13 statute miles from New York—a long distance record that has yet to be broken. One pint of gas was all that remained in the plane's tanks.

Who was it that dropped their landing gear from their land plane when they made a great sea flight, thus assuring a crash? See tomorrow's "Air Paths of Glory," in The Evening Telegraph.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

At one time it was believed that the water, at the greatest ocean depths, was of such density that anchors could not penetrate it. It is now known that in places where the water pressure is several tons to the square inch, the density is no more than that of a salt water lake, and any object that sinks at the surface is quite certain to continue to the very bottom.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, 19 and pretty, tells her mother she is going to a club meeting but instead meets DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter with whom she is in love. Her wealthy parents do not know she is acquainted with Dan. Cherry goes with him to interview a bank robber's sweetheart. She blunders into underworld headquarters and a bullet strikes her arm. Dan takes her to a doctor's office and then home. He is trying to explain what has happened when MR. DIXON appears. He is very angry and brandishes a newspaper containing a picture of Cherry and an account of the shooting. Mr. Dixon orders Dan from the house. Days pass and SARAH, Cherry's maid, discovers Dan has telephoned and been told the girl is out of town. Cherry steals out of the house, meets Dan and explains. He tells her he loves her. When Cherry arrives home her father is waiting and accuses her of having met the reporter. Cherry denies her father and he orders her to apologize or leave. She says, "I will go" and runs out of the house. Later that evening she finds Dan and tells him what has happened. He offers to take her to a friend's home but Cherry says, "Let's get married. Tonight!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THEY were married a little before 10:30 that night by a justice of the peace in a dingy room of the court house. Bill Pringle, who covered court house news and a man neither Cherry nor Dan had ever seen before, were the witnesses. Dan had appealed to Pringle to help locate the clerk of courts to issue the license.

It was a ceremony entirely without sentiment or any element of the sacred. A few words mumbled in a wheezing, half-audible monotone. Cherry, rather pale, still wearing the polo coat and her small brown hat. Dan's "I do" ringing clear and loud in the stillness. Except for the small group in the clerk's office and two old men scrubbing the floor of the central corridor the court house seemed deserted.

"I hereby pronounce you man and wife" sang out the justice. That was all there was to it. They were married! Dan placed a folded bill in the official's hand. He drew Cherry toward him and kissed her. There was some joking that the bride scarcely heard. Then she and Dan were outside in the night. Bill Pringle stood beside them on the steps.

"Well," he said gaily, "now for the honeymoon! You two want a cab, don't you?"

He held up two fingers, whistled shrilly and a cab that had been cruising down the opposite side of the street swerved to the curb.

Dan and Cherry got into the cab. Pringle waved and disappeared down the street.

"The Bismark hotel," Dan instructed the cab driver. He said to Cherry, "It's all right, isn't it? We'll find some place you'll like better in a day or two."

"It's all right, Dan. Of course." The Bismark was less than a dozen blocks away. The streets seemed singularly quiet, for it was still early. In the darkness of the cab Cherry's face was barely visible. A misty blur of whiteness. Dan's arms gathered her close.

"You darling!" he whispered.

THE ecstasy was interrupted abruptly as the cab jolted to a stop. Cherry, stepping to the sidewalk, could scarcely believe that she was the same girl who two hours earlier had left the hotel, frightened and miserable. She glanced at Dan and thought how handsome and dependable he looked.

Dan helped Cherry into the cab.

And he was her husband!

"Cap" Graham was still on duty at the hotel desk and Dan led Cherry forward.

"I'd like to introduce an old friend," he said. "This is Mr. Graham. Generally known as 'Cap.' Cap—I want you to know my wife."

"What? Say—I'm glad to meet you, Ma'am. But this is a surprise! Why—why, for mercy sake! Ain't you the one who was here a while ago? I mean—say—"

Phillips grinned. "Take it easy, Cap. And aren't you going to congratulate me. You're the first one to hear the news."

"You mean you've just been married? Well, say—I is it really true?"

"Certainly it's true."

"Well, I declare! She's a pretty one, she is, though. And you've picked a good husband, too, Ma'am."

The old man assured Cherry, "One of the finest! I want to congratulate both of you. Yes, sir. Indeed I do!"

The outer door opened and Dan turned. At his half-smothered exclamation Cherry whirled about.

A dozen men and women, laughing and calling out gaily, crowded into the hotel. They swarmed about Dan and Cherry. Bill Pringle appeared to be in the lead.

"Here they are!" the court house reporter cried. "Here's the bride and groom. Look at 'em blushing, folks! Who's going to be first to kiss the bride?"

Dan stepped out, smiling. "Just a minute," he protested. "Say, what is this anyhow?"

"We've come to help you celebrate," put in a small girl wearing a green hat. "We're all going out to Casey's and we're going to take you with us. For goodness sake, you with us."

The lilacs though each Maytime send Their message year by year—

How nature is a changeless friend Forgetting not her dears

The lilac with their perfume breath Cry: "We are faithful unto death."

Thru laden trees Proclaim your noble gift The purple once was worn by kings Now it is yours the lilac sings.

LILAC TIME
When Lilacs Last in Door-Yard Bloom'd was Lincoln's burial hymn. When Memorial Day had the Civil War as its immediate background, lilacs were its flowers. All over the north they were in blossom. When the people of the towns and countryside went to the grave yards to put flowers on graves which were not very old, American life had its simpler forms then and lilacs seem to grow out of it.
